SECTION I

INTRODUCTION

1. General. a. The Department of the Army is interested in educational opportunities for the dependents of active, retired, and deceased Army personnel. This pamphlet contains information that will be instrumental and profitable in assisting such dependents to reach their educational goals. Assistance must be limited to suggestions as to where to look for student-aid information and general data from a few of the more extensive student-aid programs. More detailed listings of specific scholarships and programs may be obtained by writing for publications of your choice referred to herein.

b. Much of the information contained in this pamphlet has been compiled from reports furnished by various national and State public education organizations. All States were requested to furnish information concerning their individual programs for higher education, but some did not respond, and others replied that such information was not readily available. Therefore, this pamphlet contains only the data available to the Department of the Army. It is not intended as complete coverage of the many sources from which student-aid information can be obtained.

c. The data contained herein is provided as a matter of information and does not constitute an indorsement by the Department of the Army.

2. Reminder to the Student. a. If you are looking for a scholarship of any kind, it is extremely important that you start early, since practically all scholarships carry deadlines for receipt of the application. The beginning of your junior year in high school is normally the accepted time to investigate the possibility of scholarships and other forms of financial assistance. High school guidance counselors or principals should be consulted on this matter. They are able to assist you in taking advantage of educational opportunities, especially scholarships offered on a "one-time" basis.

b. If you desire to attend a particular college or university, it is recommended that you write to the Director of Admissions and obtain a catalog. At the same time indicate your need for obtaining a scholarship or other financial aid. In most instances you will find that the catalogs list the number of scholarships being offered, their value, and the requisites to be met.

c. Directors of Financial Aid at many colleges and universities have advised that a student should not limit himself to application for one specific scholarship. If you desire, denote an interest in a scholarship of your choice but also indicate a willingness to accept any financial aid which is available. In this way the director may be able to program a student for other means of financial aid which are administered by the institution.

SECTION III

EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM FOR ARMY DEPENDENTS

5. General. The Department of the Army, in agreement with the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), offers U.S. Army Merit and U.S. Army Special Scholarships to eligible, college-bound, minor dependents of military personnel on active duty in the Army. These scholarships are supported by Army Central Welfare Funds and provide financial assistance in the form of a stipend for 4 years of undergraduate study leading to a bachelor's degree at any accredited college or university in the United States. The stipend for each U.S. Army Merit and Special Scholarship ranges from $100 to $1,500 per year for 4 years, depending upon the individual student's financial need as determined by NMSC.

6. Procedure for Obtaining Scholarships. a. National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Dependent students who wish to be considered for these scholarships must take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) in the calendar year prior to completion of high school and entry into college. The NMSQT is normally administered in high schools in February of each year.

(1) How to take NMSQT. Students should consult their principals or guidance counselors early in their junior year of high school to confirm the availability of the NMSQT in their school.

(a) If the school in which the student is enrolled does not administer the NMSQT, arrangements for alternate testing should be made with the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, 990 Grove Street, Evanston, Illinois 60201, through appropriate high school officials as early as possible before the scheduled testing date but not later than 10 January of the student's junior year.

(b) Occasionally illness or some other emergency may prevent a student from taking the NMSQT on the designated date. Since a high school can administer the NMSQT on only one of two scheduled dates, alternate procedures for entering the Merit Program will be furnished by NMSC when requested in writing by a school official or the student. NMSC must receive such requests as early as possible but not later than 6 June of the student's junior year in high school.

(2) Action after taking Test. Since taking the NMSQT constitutes a request for consideration, no other action is necessary until the student receives notification from NMSC that he has been selected as a Semifinalist or a Commended student. At the time the student is notified by NMSC of his selection he must take the following steps:

1. Students advised by NMSC that they have been designated as Semifinalists in the NMSC Merit Program must comply with subsequent instructions sent to them by NMSC. Upon receipt of information from the student, NMSC will provide the Department of the Army with a listing of dependent students recommended for consideration for U.S. Army Merit Scholarships. Therefore, a formal application to the Department of the Army for a U.S. Army Merit Scholarship is unnecessary.

2. Semifinalists should insure that scores achieved on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) are forwarded to NMSC since NMSC uses the results of the SAT to verify scores attained on the NMSQT in advancing Semifinalists to Finalist status.

3. Eligible dependent students who are subsequently advanced to Finalist status will be considered automatically for a U.S. Army Merit Scholarship.

1. Students advised by NMSC that they have been designated as Commended students in the NMSC Merit Program may apply for a U.S. Army Special Scholarship. The awarding of U.S. Army Special Scholarships is not automatic.

2. In order to receive consideration for a U.S. Army Special Scholarship, the student must submit an "Application for a U.S. Army Special Scholarship" (DA Form 3449-R) to: The Adjutant General, ATTN: AGMG-D, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C. 20315. Application blanks are illustrated in AR 352-1, "Educational Assistance Program for Dependents of Army Personnel," which is available in all Army personnel offices or they may be obtained by writing to The Adjutant General, ATTN: AGMG-D, address as above. Applications for U.S. Army Special Scholarships must be received by The Adjutant General, ATTN: AGMG-D, by 15 November of the student's senior year in high school.

4. Commended students must comply with all subsequent instructions received from NMSC and the Department of the Army.

7. Student's Responsibility. It is the responsibility of each student to take the necessary steps to gain admission to the college or university of his choice.

8. Winners of U.S. Army Merit and Special Scholarships. Winners will be announced in May of each year by Headquarters, Department of the Army. The sponsor (parent) of each winner must be on active duty in the Army on 15 December of the calendar year prior to the year the dependent student graduates from high school and enters college.

SECTION IV

EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES IN THE MILITARY SERVICE

9. General. Persons who desire employment while attaining or continuing their education are wise to consider entering the military service. In the military service it is possible to "learn while you earn." There are many military programs under which educational opportunities prevail. These are briefly discussed herein. Additional information may be obtained at the nearest United States Army Recruiting Office.

10. Military Schooling. The Department of the Army service school system provides training in various specialist and technical trades which are necessary to the overall efficiency of the Army. In most cases the demand for these specialist or technical trades is as great in civilian industry as the military service. Although the successful completion of military service school does not confer credits toward a college degree, many institutions of higher learning recognize the educational value of this type schooling and will allow a certain number of credit hours, depending on nature of course, toward a degree. Military personnel are selected to attend Army Service schools on a "best qualified" basis. Full pay and allowances continue while in attendance.

11. Off-Duty Studies. a. The Army maintains Education Centers at installations having a troop strength of 750 or more. Smaller installations are satellited for education services upon a larger installation. Professional educators are available at these Centers to provide professional guidance and continuity in the education program. The following services are available to all Army personnel in or through Army Education Centers:

(1) Correspondence courses of the United States Armed Forces Institute and those of participating civilian colleges and universities under contract with the Department of Defense.

(2) Group-study classes taught by military and civilian instructors employed by the Army.

(3) Classes made available either on or off the military installation by accredited high schools and colleges.

(4) Achievement tests, college level examination program-general examinations, and USAFI subject standardized tests.

(5) Educational and vocational advisement.

b. The Army pays a portion of tuition charges for courses taken at accredited high schools, colleges, and universities. When attending a civilian institution either on or off the military installation, specific credit hours are awarded by the institution attended. Under the Army's off-duty educational program, service personnel frequently earn sufficient credits for baccalaureate degree over an extended period of time at a very small cost and while earning regular pay and allowances.

12. Training of Military Personnel at Civilian Institutions. Selected officers and enlisted men are nominated each year for education and training at colleges, universities, and industrial corporations. Selection is based on requirements of the Armed Forces and the individual's academic and military capabilities.

a. Officer Civil Schooling Program. This program is conducted for commissioned officers in the Regular Army or Reserve officers on an indefinite period of active duty.

(1) Some 750 to 900 officers enter graduate schools each year to obtain masters' degrees in engineering, physical sciences, social sciences, business, agriculture, and other related fields. A few officers are permitted to continue their studies for a doctorate degree. Officers attending graduate schools are full-time students and receive full pay and allowances. The Army pays all tuition and reimburses the student for most of his expenses for books, supplies, and services. After graduation, the student officer is assigned to a position which requires his special education and training. Since 1946 approximately 7,000 officers have received graduate degrees through this program.

(2) The Army also conducts a degree completion program for officers and enlisted personnel. This permits personnel with a year or less to go for a baccalaureate degree to apply for up to a year of full-time schooling if the subject area is of significance to the Army. Personnel who can obtain a graduate degree in one semester or less may also apply for full time schooling under this program. However, students must pay for all tuition costs, books, and other expenses including travel costs to and from duty station. The student does receive full pay and allowances.

b. Training With Industry. Each year a few selected officers receive training with industrial corporations which have unique programs in technical and engineering fields. This training is normally for 20 weeks or more, and no academic degree is awarded.

(1) In March 1958 the Army announced a program to provide for the advanced training of enlisted personnel of the type offered in civilian institutions of higher learning to meet anticipated Army requirements and to provide a means of attracting and retaining qualified indiviuals in the military service on a career basis. It is designed primarily for enlisted specialists and noncommissioned officer leaders for college training on the undergraduate level in the technical, scientific, and managerial fields. Graduate training in certain instances may also be authorized. The areas of specialization are announced yearly.

(2) In order to apply, the individual must be on active duty as an enlistee, inductee, inductee continued on active duty as an Army Reservist without a break in service, or Reserve Forces Act personnel fulfilling a 2-year training obligation. Application may be submitted at any time after entry into the active military service; however, the applicant must have completed a minimum of 1 year's service in the active Army before beginning training under this program. The purpose of this last requirement is to allow commanders sufficient time to observe potential character and leadership qualities. The program is voluntary and highly competitive. If an applicant is accepted for training, he must obligate himself for a 3- or 6-year period in the Regular Army depending upon the number of years of college training desired. Those with a 3-year obligation will be eligible for 1 calendar year of training or less, while those who obligate themselves for 6 years are eligible for more than 1 calendar year but not more than 2 calendar years of training. Such training will take place during the first part of the obligated service with the remainder of the obligated service spent in an assignment where benefits received from this training can be best utilized. Applicants must be high school graduates or the equivalent. Applicants for training in the physical sciences, such as engineering, must have successfully completed requisite high school courses in mathematics and science. In addition, all applicants must meet certain physical, mental, character, and leadership qualifications. Finally, the applicant must possess the necessary qualifications and prerequisites to make him acceptable to the college or university in which training is sought.

13. Programs Conducted and/or Sponsored by the Army Medical Service. Further information and other eligibility requirements for the Army Medical Service programs listed below may be obtained from The Surgeon General, ATTN: MEDPT–MP, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C. 20315.

14. United States Military Academy. a. General. Each cadetship at the Military Academy is allocated to a specific Member of Congress, to the Governor (or Commissioner) of a United States Territory, or to the Secretary of the Army. When a cadetship becomes vacant, due to graduation or other causes, the authority to whom the vacany is allocated transmits to the Department of the Army the names of up to 10 young men he nominates to fill the vacancy. He further indicates the method to be used in selecting the candidate to be appointed to the cadetship.

(1) Cadetships allocated to Members of Congress and Commissioners or Governors are termed CONGRESSIONAL and are listed below:

|---|---|
| Vice President | 5 |
| 100 Senators (5 each) | 500 |
| 435 Representatives (5 each) | 2,175 |
| District of Columbia Commissioner | 5 |
| Canal Zone Governor | 1 |
| Puerto Rico Resident Commissioner/Governor | 6 |
| Guam, Virgin Islands, American Samoa Governors | 1 |

(2) The law requires that candidates nominated from the States at large, from congressional districts, from the District of Columbia, from the Canal Zone, and from Puerto Rico, be domiciled in the geographical unit from which nominated.

(3) The Vice President nominates from the United States at large. United States Senators and Representatives-at-Large nominate from their respective States at large. United States Representatives, other than those at large, nominate from their districts. The Commissioner of the District of Columbia nominates from among the residents of the District. The Governor of the Canal Zone nominates from among the sons of civilians residing in the Canal Zone and from among sons of civilian personnel of the United States Government and the Panama Canal Company residing in the Republic of Panama. The Governor of Puerto Rico must nominate a native of Puerto Rico to fill his single cadetship. The Resident Commissioner nominates from among residents domiciled in Puerto Rico to fill the five cadetships allocated to him. The Governors of Guam, the Virgin Islands, and American Samoa nominate from among the sons of United States citizens or nationals residing on their respective Islands.

(4) As most Congressional sources conduct preliminary screening interviews and tests before selecting their nominees, it is important that each young man interested in entering the Military Academy apply for consideration to his authorized nominating sources at least 1 year prior to the time he expects to enter the Academy (July).

(5) Congressional nominating authorities specify to the Department of the Army the method to be used in making the final selection of the candidate to fill the vacant cadetship. The most common methods are described below:

(a) Competitive Method. Members of Congress, when making their nominations for each vacancy, authorize the Academic Board, USMA, to select the best qualified of their nominees Such nominees are termed "Congressional Competitors."

(b) Principal-Alternate Method. Members of Congress using this method may nominate 10 candidates, one being named as principal, one as first alternate, one as second alternate, one as third alternate, one as fourth alternate, and one as fifth alternate, etc. The first alternate, if qualified, will be admitted if the principal fails; the second alternate, if qualified, will be admitted if the principal and first alternate fail; and so on for the succeeding alternates.

c. Army Nominations. The Secretary of the Army's allocation of cadetships, termed ARMY, is distributed to specific categories below for the class entering in July annually.

|---|---|
| Presidential | 100 |
| Members of the Regular Army | 85 |
| Members of the Army Reserve | 85 |
| Sons of Deceased Veterans | 13 |
| Honor Military and Honor Naval Schools | 20 |
| Sons of Persons Awarded the Medal of Honor | Unlimited |

Appointments to vacancies within each of the Army categories are awarded to best-qualified candidates within each category on a competitive basis. Each Army candidate, with the exception of those from the Regular Army category, must complete all required College Board examinations on or before the December test administration. Failure to do so will cancel his nomination. Results of later College Board administrations (January or March) will not be considered except in cases where the candidate holds one or more Congressional Nomination(s) in addition to an Army nomination. Regular Army nominees are authorized to submit with their records the results of January College Board tests. A fuller discussion of the competitive nomination categories follows below.

The program includes 4 academic years of "on-campus" study and training in the art of organizing, motivating, and leading others and a 6-week summer camp period of intensive field training. Appropriate uniforms are furnished throughout the program, and other pay benefits are detailed below. The traditional ROTC program, as changed by ROTC Vitalization Act of 1964, provides increased opportunities and advantages for eligible young men entering or enrolled in accredited colleges hosting an ROTC unit. The traditional 4-year ROTC program is continued, with a current $50 subsistence allowance for those in the advanced course. A 2-year ROTC program has been added, under which selected college sophomores who were unable to participate in ROTC in their first 2 years of college may be given a 6-week "basic" camp to qualify them for direct entry into the Advanced Course. In addition, ROTC scholarship awards now are available to selected applicants in the ROTC 4-year program.

b. Four-Year Program.

(1) The Army ROTC 4-year program is in operation on more than 260 college and university campuses. The 2-year Basic Course (Military Science I and II) is designed to be taken in the student's freshman and sophomore years, requires approximately 3 hours per week of "on-campus" instruction and training, and will be an elective (or required) course according to the school policy.

(2) Students who have completed the Basic Course may apply for admittance to the Advanced Course, designed for participation during their junior and senior years of college. Those who have received the equivalent of the Basic Course in a military preparatory school or who have 4 months or more of military service may be granted credit for completion of the Basic Course and apply for enrollment in the Advanced Course. The Advanced Course, Military Science III and IV, consists of approximately 5 hours of "on-campus" study and training per week, plus participation in a 6-week "Advanced" summer camp, normally between their junior and senior years.

(3) Students participating in the Advanced Course will receive $50 per month subsistence allowance during the school years, except during the 6-week advanced summer camp period when they receive one-half of the basic pay of a second lieutenant with less than 2 years of service, together with reimbursement for travel to and from camp. Enrollment in the Advanced Course involves enlistment in the USAR and acceptance of a 6-year service obligation. Following graduation and commissioning, he will be required to serve a minimum of 2 years on active duty and 4 years in the Reserve. If qualified for and appointed in the Regular Army, he will serve a minimum of 3 years active duty.

c. Two-Year Program. Under the 2-Year ROTC program introduced by statute in 1964, the college student may apply for enrollment in the ROTC under a program which will permit him to complete his ROTC requirements in 2 years instead of 4. Students apply in the spring quarter of their sophomore year, and if qualified and accepted, complete their basic camp period that summer and are enrolled in the Advanced Course in the fall. Only a limited number may be accepted each year for this program. Applicants who attend basic summer camp receive pay at the rate of one-half of the basic pay of an enlisted man in pay grade E–1, plus reimbursement for travel to and from camp. Upon enrollment in the fall, he will receive pay the same as any other member of the Advanced Course.

(1) Four-year scholarships may be awarded to selected high school graduates who apply for enrollment in the 4-year ROTC program under the Army ROTC Financial Assistance Program. ROTC cadets completing their second year of the Basic Course may apply for award of a 2-year scholarship which will be effective with their enrollment in the Advanced Course. To qualify for either award, the student must be enrolled or enrolling in the ROTC 4-year program, must display a strong desire for a career as a Regular Army officer, be a citizen of the United States and at least 17 years of age on 30 June of the year of application for the award, and pass the ROTC medical examination for appointment of an officer. He must be under 25 years of age as of 30 June of the year in which he will be eligible for commissioning, and, upon graduation, accept a commission in the Regular Army or Reserve, whichever is offered, with active duty obligation of 4 years.

(2) Award winners will sign a contract which specifies the financial assistance they will receive from the Government, and service obligation incurred by their acceptance. They will be reimbursed for all tuition, fees, textbooks, and other required materials to be purchased and library expenses, incurred during the period of the scholarship. In addition, they will receive $50 per month for the duration of the scholarship, except during the advanced summer camp period, for which they will be paid at the same rate as non-scholarship members. The $50 per month received during the Advanced Course under the scholarship is paid in lieu of the subsistence allowance paid to non-scholarship students in the Advanced Course, not in addition thereto.

(3) Scholarship award winners may attend any school of their choice which offers the ROTC program and at which they are accepted for enrollment. However, 4-year award winners are required to attend a school with the 4-year ROTC program. Scholarship cadets are not eligible for participation in the 2-year ROTC program.

e. Flight Instruction. ROTC Advanced Course students may apply for Flight Instruction if their institution has made arrangements for participation in the Army ROTC Flight Instruction Program. Flight Instruction will be given during the second year of the Advanced Course at a civilian flying school under arrangements approved by the Federal Aviation Agency, Department of the Army, and the college. All textbooks, flight clothing and equipment, also transportation between the flying school and the college, are furnished at no cost to the student.

SECTION VIII

STUDENT LOAN PROGRAMS

50. Educational Opportunity Grant Program (EOG). a. Full-time undergraduate students, of exceptional financial need, who are currently enrolled or have been accepted for enrollment in participating institutions of higher education may qualify for an outright grant of funds. This program is especially directed to those students who, without the assistance made available through an EOG, would not be able to continue their education beyond the secondary level.

b. Yearly grants range between $200 and $1,000 depending on the need of the student, his access to other sources of aid, the cost of attending the institution, and the amount of funds the institution is able to make available under the program. Once a student is a recipient of an EOG, his grant will be renewed each year—up to 4 years—of his undergraduate education as long as he remains in good standing and continues to meet the need criterion. The EOG can be no more than one-half of the assistance that is offered to a student; his school must at least match the amount of his grant with Federal, State, or private sources of financial aid.

c. This program is administered directly through the participating colleges and universities. The financial aid officer of each school selects the recipients, following guidelines established by the Office of Education, and determines the amount of aid each requires.

d. It is expected that 276,100 students will be assisted in the continuation of their education during the 1968–69 academic year.

51. College Work-Study Program (CWSP). a. Full-time students, especially those from low-income families, currently enrolled or accepted for enrollment in participating institutions of higher education, who are capable of maintaining good standing at their schools and who need assistance to continue their studies, may be able to obtain a part-time job under the College Work-Study Program. These jobs may be for the college itself, or for public or private nonprofit agencies, contracting with the school, working in the public interest. Students may not be hired, however, for any jobs involving the building or maintenance of any facility used for religious teaching or worship, nor may they be given employment involving political activity or work for a political party.

b. Students may work an average of 15 hours weekly while attending classes and up to 40 hours per week during the summer or other vacation periods. The salaries paid must be at least the current minimum wage although they may frequently be higher. In 3 months of summer employment, an eligible student could earn approximately $600 and this amount, supplemented by his weekly earnings during the school year, could greatly assist him in meeting his total educational costs including necessary clothes, transportation, and personal expenses.

c. The participating institution selects the students to be employed, supervises their work, determines their salary, handles the payroll, and generally administers the program following the guidelines established by the Office of Education.

d. An estimated 310,000 students will be assisted by the approximately $129.8 million obligated for the CWSP for academic year 1968–69.

52. National Defense Student Loan Program (NDSL). a. Students who have been accepted for enrollment or are already in attendance on at least a half-time basis, at participating colleges and universities and who require financial assistance to meet educational expenses, may be eligible to receive a loan under the National Defense Student Loan Program.

b. An undergraduate student may borrow up to $1,000 per academic year to a total of $5,000; a graduate or professional student may borrow up to $2,500 each year to a cumulative total of $10,000 for both undergraudate and graduate study. The interest (3 percent) begins to accrue and the repayment period starts 9 months after the borrower completes his education or ends his studies. The repayment may extend over a 10-year period; however, the schools may require minimum payments which will reduce this. Students may have their loans, principal and interest, deferred for up to 3 years while serving with the Armed Forces, Peace Corps, or VISTA.

c. If a borrower becomes a full-time teacher in a public or other nonprofit elementary or secondary school or in an institution of higher education, as much as 50 percent of his loan may be canceled at the rate of 10 percent for each academic year of full-time teaching service. Borrowers who elect to teach in specifically designated public or other nonprofit elementary or secondary schools located in areas of primarily low-income families or who teach handicapped children, may qualify for cancellation of their entire obligation at the rate of 15 percent per academic year of teaching service.

d. The colleges and universities particiating in the program determine which students may receive a NDSL, the mount each recipient may borrow, and are responsible for collection.

e. Over 400,000 students attending 1,788 institutions of higher education will borrow approximately $265 million under this program, in the 1968–69 academic year.

53. Federally Insured Student Loan Program (FISLP). a. Title IV, Part B of the High Education Act of 1965 authorizes programs of Federally Insured Student Loans. These programs provide for students to apply for loans from participating lending institutions to help pay their educational costs while attending schools ranging from vocational or technical to degree granting institutions.

b. These loans are insured by the Federal Government and in the event of a student's failure to pay, the lender will be reimbursed 100 percent of the unpaid principal balance of the loan. In the case of the student's death or total and permanent disability, the Federal Government will pay the entire amount owed by the student.

c. During the student's in-school period, prior to commencement of repayment, and during periods of authorized deferment, the Federal Government pays the total interest up to the maximum 7 percent per annum for those students whose adjusted family income is less than $15,000 per year. During the loan repayment period, the student will assume the total interest charges. Students who do not qualify for Federal interest benefits, that is, students whose adjusted family income is more than $15,000, may borrow, but they must pay all of the interest on the loan.

d. Regardless of family income, any student desiring to pursue a post secondary education is eligible to apply for a loan provided he or she—

(1) Is enrolled and in good standing or has been accepted for enrollment at an eligible school;

(2) Is carrying at least one-half of the normal full-time workload as determined by the school; and

(3) Is a citizen or national of the United States or is in the United States for other than a temporary purpose.

e. A maximum of $1,500 per academic year may be applied for if the educational costs require borrowing to this extent. The total outstanding principal balance may not exceed $7,500 at any time.

f. The Office of Education charges the lender (bank) an insurance premium of one-fourth of one percent per year on the amount disbursed for the term of the in-school note. This is computed from the month following disbursement to anticipated month of graduation plus 12 months. The premium is charged only once for the term of each loan. There will be no refunds or adjustments. The lender, at his option, may collect the premium from the borrower or deduct it from the proceeds of the loan.

g. Loan application procedure: The student obtains a Federal application (OE 1154) from a lender or school. After completing Part A, the student submits the application to the school which verifies enrollment, completes Part B, and returns the form to the student. After completing Part C, the application is submitted to a lender for approval.

h. Repayment: Repayment of the loan is over a period of not less than 5 nor more than 10 years beginning not earlier than 9 nor more than 12 months following the date on which a student ceases to be enrolled on at least a half-time basis at an eligible institution. However, as the Act requires the student to repay at a rate not less than $360 a year, the actual repayment terms will depend on the student's total indebtedness. Principal payments need not be made by the borrower while he is a member of the Armed Forces, a Volunteer in the Peace Corps or VISTA, or for any period during which he is pursuing a full-time course of study at an eligible school. The borrower is encouraged to make at least partial payments during such periods of deferment in order to reduce the principal amount of the loan. Full interest subsidy will continue or resume during such periods of deferment, whether or not principal is in fact being paid.

i. Should you desire additional information, please contact a participating bank or commercial credit institution, a school or university, or one of the addressees listed in table 3.
